Structure & Target Market

- Legerdemain is written and structured as an ongoing serial, not a book released in chapters.
- Two episodes per week release, going live on Tuesdays and Thursdays.
- The target market is readers who love serials, not those who wait until an entire series releases to start reading.

Central Protagonist: Sheriff Shelley Magnus- Grantone

The central protagonist, Shelley Magnus-Grantone, is a lively, funny, compassionate, talented pansexual witch, allergic to children, who's also the Sheriff of the Order of Order, the law enforcement entity for the city and the province.

She's earth-aligned, which means her strongest magic is connected to the element of earth.

She's the eldest of four (two younger sisters and a younger brother).

Her mother is the recently-appointed Oracle of the Kingdom, and now lives in the Citadel, the city's original fortification, along with her father, who is an astronomer and astrologer. Shelley was born and raised in Legerdemain, loves it passionately, and knows every nook and cranny of it (along with a good many of the locals in it).

When your mother is the Oracle,
there's not much room for error

Legerdemain

- Has a long, colorful history, welcoming those who don't fit anywhere else; exiling those who try to control and oppress.
- Is located on the northeastern cliffs in the Kystnaere province of the Kingdom of Cosenquo, on the planet Melli. While they prefer to mind their own business, they welcome tourists and other visitors, from around the planet Melli, and from off-world.
- Is a busy, vibrant city, comprised of districts and neighborhoods, and a large variety of businesses
